POSTS

Posts are good for weekly or monthly changing information. Posts are automatically inserted into BLOGS which are modules added to the page LAYOUT or you can add a CATEGORY as a menu item.

Posts can be classified as CATAGORIES and a BLOG can be limited to one or several CATEGORY POSTS

Showing the post 2 ways either in a blog or as a Sub-Heading under a CATEGORY in the MENU*.

BLOGS Is where you can put posts. You can choose which type of posts you want (categories)

First see what post catagories you already have.

The order of the posts are determined by the date the post was created, not the date of the event. Past activity posts will remain visible until new posts are added. An alternative to posts is to have a text module that you continually update and save. Calendar events will always show current and future events (unless you click previous) but text and post/blog are always visible, so monitor our site for out of date information.
